PREFACE

POLICY STATEMENT

Playtech is committed to engaging in business in a responsible, ethical and sustainable manner and to playing a positive role in the communities in which it operates. We take a zero-tolerance approach to conduct that would have the effect of breaching our ethical standards, legal and/or regulatory obligations. This Business Ethics Policy sets out Playtech's standards of business conduct, its approach to corporate governance, its commitments to its employees, and its approach to being a sustainable company. It also outlines the expectations of employees to uphold ethical standards and responsible business practices.

PURPOSE OF THIS POLICY

The purpose of this Policy is to:

- set out Playtech's responsibilities, and the responsibilities of those working for Playtech, in observing and upholding Playtech's position on ethics; and
- provide information and guidance to those working for Playtech on how to behave ethically. Playtech's Code of Conduct provides an overarching checklist of expected behaviours for guidance.

APPLICATION OF THIS POLICY

This Policy applies to the Playtech group of companies, which means Playtech Plc together with every subsidiary of Playtech Plc (collectively referred to as 'Playtech' in this Policy).

All persons working for or on behalf of Playtech in any capacity, including employees at all levels, directors, officers, agency workers, seconded workers, volunteers, interns (collectively referred to as 'Personnel' in this Policy) must comply with this Policy. Where appropriate, it will apply to agents, contractors, external consultants, third-party representatives and business partners, sponsors, joint venture partners or any other person associated with us, wherever located.

Any breach of this Policy may result in disciplinary action for Playtech Personnel. Playtech may terminate its relationship with other individuals or organisations working on its behalf if they breach this Policy. Deliberate or repeated non-adherence to this Policy will be treated as misconduct and may result in disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal.

From time to time, Playtech will engage third-party specialists to advise on legal and ethical matters. This does not, however, absolve Personnel from their responsibilities and obligations set out in this Policy.

This Policy does not form part of any employee's contract of employment and Playtech may amend it at any time.

This Business Ethics Policy will be provided to all new Personnel at induction. The Policy will also be made available on Playtech's secured shared sites. The Compliance team will work with HR to ensure that Personnel are reminded of the Ethics Policy at least once a year.

Exceptions to this Policy are not permitted.

OVERSIGHT OF THIS POLICY

Playtech's board of directors is responsible for approving this Policy.

Playtech's Risk and Compliance Committee has overall responsibility for ensuring that this Policy complies with Playtech's legal and ethical obligations and that all those under its control comply with the Policy.

Playtech's Chief Compliance Officer has primary and day-to-day responsibility for implementing this Policy, monitoring its use and effectiveness, dealing with any queries about it, and auditing internal control systems and procedures to ensure they are effective.

Management Personnel at all levels are responsible for ensuring that those reporting to them understand and comply with this Policy and are given adequate and regular training on it.

COMPLIANCE MANAGEMENT

Playtech's Risk and Compliance Committee will review the use, effectiveness and implementation of this Policy on an annual basis, considering its suitability, adequacy and effectiveness. Any improvements identified will be made as soon as possible.

Personnel are invited to comment on this Policy and suggest ways in which it might be improved. Comments, suggestions and queries should be addressed to the Compliance team.

Any risk of non-compliance with this Policy must be escalated to senior management, who are responsible for managing or, where appropriate, escalating such risks to the Risk and Compliance Committee or the board of directors.

Playtech implements appropriate tax policies, procedures and compliance controls to meet its legal obligations to pay tax, to ensure the integrity of its filings and the submission of timely and accurate tax payments in all countries in which it does business.

Personnel are required to comply with Playtech's Anti-Facilitation of Tax Evasion Policy. This includes obligations on personnel to ensure that their actions do not involve Playtech in tax evasion and do not knowingly facilitate the evasion of any tax by any third party, such as a customer or supplier.

1.9 POLITICAL AND CHARITABLE CONTRIBUTIONS

Contributions or payments to political parties, candidates, organisations, or campaigns are not permitted. This restriction includes sponsorship of events and gifts in kind.

Playtech does permit charitable donations, but only where the donation is: (i) made to a registered charity; (ii) legal and ethical under local laws and practices; and (iii) approved of by the Chief Compliance Officer or his designee. Further information about policies and procedures for donations to charitable organisations can be found in Playtech's Community Investment Policy.

1.10 THIRD COUNTRY PAYMENTS

No payments of any kind should be made to a third party in any country other than the country from which the product or service was provided, or in which the recipient has a substantial place of business.

2 FINANCIAL INTEGRITY AND PROTECTION OF COMPANY ASSETS

2.1 ACCURACY OF COMPANY RECORDS AND REPORTS

By law, Playtech's financial records must be honest and accurate. Government regulatory authorities, institutional investors, investors and rating agencies rely on financial information being reported truthfully, accurately and in a timely manner. Furthermore, inaccurate financial reporting could undermine shareholder confidence, impact Playtech's reputation and subject Playtech to fines and penalties.

Playtech keeps accurate books and records and does not make false or artificial entries for any reason. This is crucial to maintain the integrity of Playtech's financial reporting, to support internal decision making and to maintain relationships with stakeholders.

Playtech adopts generally accepted accounting principles, which record entries appropriately and prevent the establishment of 'off the books' or secret accounts, or the creation of documents which do not properly and fairly record the transactions to which they relate.

All payments or usage of company funds must be reviewed and approved by the appropriate manager. All requests for payments must be clearly and accurately described and supporting documentation provided. Proceeds must be used only for the requested and approved purpose.

Personnel must follow Playtech's procurement Policy and purchasing processes.

Personnel must comply with all applicable record management policies. As a minimum, all business records must:

- Never store such information on any local disk or external device (such as a USB stick) without the consent of their line manager.

2.3 INSIDER TRADING AND COMPLIANCE WITH SECURITIES LAWS

As a listed company, by law, Playtech is required to publicly disclose certain information such as revenues, significant acquisitions and regulatory matters. Playtech is responsible for reporting this information in a fair, complete, accurate and timely way.

Playtech complies with applicable securities laws in the jurisdictions in which it operates. Most countries prohibit people from either using inside information for personal gain or disseminating it without authorisation.

Inside information is information about Playtech (or any of its licensees) that has not been made public, and which would be likely to have a significant effect on the price of Playtech securities

(that is, shares) (or those of its licensees) if it were released to the public. Inside information includes but is not limited to:

- Possible mergers, acquisitions, divestitures, and joint-ventures;
- Preparation by Playtech to issue new securities;
- Changes in key management;
- Earnings and dividends;
- Financial, sales and other significant internal business forecasts; and
- Significant litigation, government investigations, or regulatory actions.

Personnel may become aware of inside information in the course of their roles at Playtech before it has been released to the public. Personnel who have become aware of such information must not:

- Buy or sell Playtech securities;
- Buy or sell securities of any other company using important non-public inside information that has become available to them in the course of their role at Playtech;
- 'Tip' others to trade;
- Recommend that family, friends, or others buy or sell Playtech securities or the securities of other publicly listed licensees; and
- Disclose inside information to anyone, including other Personnel (unless they need the information to do their job).

Personnel who know or suspect they, or another, may be at risk of, or have engaged insider trading, must notify the Compliance or Legal teams.

2.4 RESPECT FOR TRADE SECRETS AND CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION

Playtech respects trade secrets and confidential information belonging to other companies and individuals. Information about competitors should be sought from the public domain only; the inappropriate collection of others' proprietary information is not permitted.

Discussions of competitive information with Personnel of competitors should be avoided in all circumstances, including industry meetings.

Personnel should be truthful and never misrepresent who they are or where they work in an effort to learn about competitors.

2.5 INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

Intellectual property ('IP') rights, which include patents, trademarks, copyrights, design rights, know-how and trade secrets, product designs, inventions, brand names and logos, are key to Playtech's business and must be protected.

Personnel must take care to respect Playtech's IP and to employ appropriate measures to protect such intellectual property rights.

Any suspected theft or unauthorised use of Playtech's IP must be reported immediately to Playtech's Legal team.

Playtech does not tolerate any unauthorised use, theft or misappropriation of any third party intellectual property rights.

3 COMMITMENTS TO PERSONNEL

3.1 PREVENTING HARASSMENT

Harassment is any unwelcome or offensive language or behaviour directed at another person based on any identifying personal characteristic. Harassment includes unwelcome sexual advances or innuendos, offensive jokes, derogatory slurs and offensive visual images. Harassment does not require intent to offend. Inappropriate conduct meant as a joke, a prank or even a compliment could lead to or contribute to harassment.

Playtech does not tolerate harassment and is committed to providing a workplace that is free from harassment, bias, intimidation, bullying or any other offensive conduct.

Personnel who believe that they have been harassed should raise the matter with the relevant Human Resources Manager, who will arrange for it to be investigated impartially, confidentially and without delay.

Playtech and Personnel should encourage tolerance of others and respect for diversity.

3.4 LABOUR STANDARDS

Such laws will apply together with the terms of the written agreement between Playtech and Personnel, for example, the contract of employment.

Child labour (persons under age of 15, unless specified otherwise by law) and illegal, abusive or forced labour (including indentured labour, bonded labour, servitude, slavery and human trafficking) is not tolerated by Playtech in its own business or in the business of its suppliers or third-party business partners.

Individuals must not be coerced to work by violence, intimidation or other means. Individuals are free to terminate their employment by giving reasonable notice as determined in their contract of employment.

Playtech respects the rights of workers to associate freely and bargain collectively where permitted under relevant laws. Workers may discuss working conditions with management without fear of retaliation. Playtech will respect the rights of workers to join an association and to appoint representatives.

3.6 EMPLOYEE WELLBEING

Playtech is committed to promoting the health and well-being of its Personnel and providing a safe and caring working environment. All Personnel are entitled to equal rights of protection.

Playtech also recognises that its industry creates a sensitive environment for those at risk of, or experiencing, gambling-related harm. Playtech has a duty to ensure that policies, training and support are available and promoted to Personnel.

Playtech's Wellbeing Policy outlines the company's approach for protecting Personnel's health, wellbeing and human rights, enabling them to be free from harm, abuse and neglect. Safeguarding concerns may arise for vulnerable Personnel, including those affected by gambling-related harm, mental health concerns, learning disabilities, sensory/physical disabilities, social isolation as well as other conditions.

The Policy also provides an overview of how Playtech will support Personnel to report suspected wrongdoing as soon as possible, in the knowledge that their concerns will be taken seriously and investigated, and that their confidentiality will be respected.

Playtech has established global and local wellbeing leads who have primary and day-to-day responsibility for the Wellbeing Policy. Each entity within the Playtech group of companies (and its internal HR function) is responsible for that entity's implementation of this Policy. Senior management, at all levels, are responsible for ensuring that those reporting to them are made aware of and understand the Wellbeing Policy.

3.7 HEALTH & SAFETY

Playtech is committed to creating and maintaining a safe and healthy work environment for all Personnel working within, or visiting, its premises.

Playtech complies with all applicable workplace safety and industrial hygiene policies, laws, regulations and standards.

Playtech has a duty to put suitable arrangements in place to assess and manage the risks posed to the health and safety of Personnel in the workplace. These health and safety requirements vary by jurisdiction.

Personnel must ensure that they abide by the policies and procedures implemented by Playtech to ensure the health and safety of themselves and others in the workplace.

Personnel must not act in any way which may put the health and safety of themselves or others at risk.

Personnel must promptly report unsafe or hazardous conditions and must report all breaches of health and safety policies and procedures to the appropriate safety representative.

- The International Labour Organisation's (ILO) Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work; and
- The UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights.

Playtech is also committed to preventing modern slavery within its supply chain and has a dedicated statement articulating its commitment. See Playtech's Human Rights Policy and Statement on Human Rights and Modern Slavery Act for more information.

5 CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

A conflict of interest occurs where, in the course of business:

- The interests, duties or commitments that Personnel have through family, friends, work, voluntary work or political interests conflict, or have the potential to conflict, with Playtech's interests or objectives; or
- Where Personnel's judgment could be influenced, or appear to be influenced, by a personal interest, duty, commitment, or benefit.

In such a situation, Personnel must not give their own interest priority over that of Playtech.

It is important that Personnel declare conflicts of interest with Compliance through the Convercent database, which holds registration and tracking for conflicts of interest. Once an employee registers a declaration in the system, the Compliance Management Office ("CMO") and Chief Compliance Officer will review the declaration to assess whether there is a concern. Playtech will work with Personnel to resolve or mitigate a conflict or potential conflict wherever possible, but Personnel should not continue with the course of action unless or until approval is granted. Additional details regarding Convercent are outlined in the Anti-Bribery and Corruption Policy.

It is not always clear whether an activity creates a conflict of interest. The principles set out below are intended to guide Personnel in identifying and avoiding the types of situations that may give rise to an actual or potential conflict of interest:

Where individuals are in a personal relationship, care must be taken to ensure that no conflicts arise because of that relationship. Personal relationships between individuals within the same line of management will not be permitted.

Individuals should avoid supervising or taking part in the hiring or promotion of family members and avoid holding a position with access to or influence over performance appraisals, salary information or other confidential information of a family member. Such situations should also be avoided where a close personal relationship exists.

Serving on outside boards can present conflicts of interest and should be disclosed and discussed with one's line manager. It is necessary to understand the legal responsibilities and to avoid affiliations which have potential for distraction and/or conflict of interest.

6 PERSONNEL COMMITMENTS

Personnel are responsible for reading, committing to and complying with this Business Ethics Policy, as well as for applying Playtech's values and standards in the performance of their daily roles.

6.1 DATA PROTECTION

Personnel should act quickly and promptly when referring an enquiry, as reporters work to tight deadlines.

Investors

Personnel must not discuss Playtech's business with investors without prior permission of the CEO, COO, CFO or Head of Strategy and Investor Relations.

In all cases the Head of Strategy and Investor Relations should be made aware in advance and where possible should be present. Where Personnel find themselves in the presence of investors in Playtech, Personnel should not talk about any commercial matters or specific business practices or strategies.

Personnel who are approached by investors for information should refer them to the Head of Strategy and Investor Relations.

Regulatory authorities & government officials

Personnel must not discuss Playtech's business with regulatory authorities or local government representatives without prior permission from Playtech's Chief Compliance Officer, except as required by law.

Personnel who are approached by a regulator or government representative should refer the matter to the Chief Compliance officer or his/her designee in Compliance.

6.4 SOCIAL MEDIA

All social media posts (internal and external) must comply with the guidelines outlined in the Public Relations and Communications Process.

Social media includes any digital communication channels that enable individuals to create and share content, post comments and send messages. Examples of social media channels are Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, WhatsApp, Snapchat and Instagram.

Personnel must not use private social media accounts for business purposes. Personal social media activities should be polite, respectful and mindful of the fact that content is public and could impact the way others view Playtech and its values.

Sharing any commercially sensitive Playtech activity in any medium (print, photographic, audio) on social media is strictly prohibited. Personnel must not discuss Playtech's interests, their job responsibilities, work products or work colleagues in personal social media posts.

Playtech external content, including industry and national print, online, PR and videos, may not be published on social media without prior approval from the Corporate Affairs team and in line with the Public Relations and Communications Process.

Do's and Don'ts for social media posts are available in the Public Relations and Communications Process document.

6.5 DRUGS & ALCOHOL IN THE WORKPLACE

Playtech will not tolerate any intoxication at work. Personnel must ensure that any use of alcohol outside of working hours does not impair their ability to perform their duties for Playtech in a safe and professional manner.

Alcohol should not be consumed during the working day or while interacting with clients / guests unless it is during business-sponsored social events. If alcohol is served at a business-sponsored social event, then Personnel should ensure that they do not drink to excess and are still able to carry out their jobs and represent Playtech safely, competently and professionally.

Playtech does not permit any use of illegal substances or drugs during working hours or on Playtech's premises.

Personnel travelling abroad on business matters are representing Playtech. Accordingly, excessive consumption of alcohol after working hours and use of illegal substances is not permitted. This also includes when socialising with clients or guests outside of work hours at pubs, bars and restaurants.

Personnel who observe a colleague impaired due to alcohol, drugs, or other intoxicating substances must promptly notify their line manager and the Compliance department. They should not seek to challenge their colleague directly.

In the first instance, any individual who is intoxicated, whether through alcohol or drugs, when they attend work will be sent home without pay. Managers must ensure that the individual is not a danger to themselves or colleagues and, if necessary, will make the arrangements to get the individual home safely.

6.6 GAMBLING ON PLAYTECH PLATFORM AND GAMES

Personnel are prohibited from gambling on any of the Playtech's platforms (including poker, bingo, casino and sports betting) or content, at any time, without written consent from Compliance. However, Personnel are permitted to play on 'not for money' games on Playtech's platforms.

If Personnel are required to play one of Playtech's games for the purpose of reviewing or testing content on a licensee's site, written permission must be obtained from the Compliance Project Management Office within Compliance prior to performing this exercise.

This prohibition does not extend to family members, but Personnel are encouraged to notify their manager in the event that a member of the family wins or loses a substantial amount on Playtech's platform, subject to obtaining the family member's consent.

7 ASKING QUESTIONS AND SPEAKING UP ABOUT ILLEGAL OR UNETHICAL BEHAVIOUR

Personnel can voice concerns about anything they find unsafe, unethical or unlawful in a responsible, appropriate and effective manner and at the earliest opportunity without fear of criticism or retaliation. All such disclosures will be treated in a confidential, sensitive and respectful manner.

In the first instance, Personnel should raise any questions or concerns they may have in relation to this Policy or potential violations of it with their line manager or local HR manager. In addition, Personnel can raise concerns with the Compliance or Legal teams.

However, where the matter is more serious, or Personnel feel that their line manager has not addressed the concern, or an individual prefers not to raise it with them for any reason, Personnel may contact Playtech's independent, safe and secure 'Speak Up' line provided by Convercent.

Employees may choose to remain anonymous when raising a concern (subject to any local laws which prevent anonymous whistleblowing).
